DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kavanaugh (USPN 6950805).

Re claims 1-21: Kavanaugh teaches a method and corresponding system for converting an annuity fund to a life insurance policy at a predetermined conversion date comprising the following steps: establishing an annuity fund including selecting an initial predetermined value and purchasing an annuity for the initial predetermined value, establishing an irrevocable life insurance conversion plan including selecting the predetermined conversion date, selecting a predetermined mortality death benefit at the predetermined conversion date, converting the annuity fund to the life insurance policy with the predetermined mortality death benefit at the predetermined conversion date, disbursing the death benefit to the beneficiary at the death of the owner of the life insurance policy (Col. 4, lines 29-Col. 5, lines 67; Figures).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Koresko, V (USPN 6963852) teaches a method and system for creating a defined benefit pension plan funded with a variable life insurance policy and/or a variable annuity policy (Abstract, col. 1, lines 55-67).
